GEORGIA WORLD CONGRESS CENTER
The Congress Center projected a profit of $510,388 for the month but had an actual profit of $336,025, a negative variance of $174,363. The loss was mainly due to lower F&B net profit and advertising revenue. YTD the Congress Center projected a net loss of ($591,562) but had an actual net loss of ($398,053), which is 33% better than budget.
GEORGIA DOME
The Dome projected a net loss of ($2,945,961) for the month, but had an actual net loss of ($2,532,990), a positive variance of $412,971. Total revenue was up due to additional space rental for Falcons/Saints game. Total expenses were lower for the month primarily due to lower debt service cost. YTD the Dome projected a net profit of $27,664,746 but had an actual net profit of $29,291,183.

CENTENNIAL OLYMPIC PARK
The Park projected a net loss against budget of ($128,000) for the month but had an actual net loss of ($96,485), a positive variance of $31,515. The positive variance was due to higher than anticipated F&B revenue and savings in personnel and maintenance costs. YTD the Park projected a net loss of ($47,783) but had an actual net loss of ($417,357). The shortfall was due to F&B, ticket sales, and space rental which did not materialize.

Hotel/Motel Tax of $16.6M was 4.66% over budget for the month and is 8.68% ahead of last year at this time.

The following January events resulted in an estimated 287,462 attendees and an estimated economic impact of $143.5M for the month.

LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM UPDATE
Today’s Learning and Development update is a result of initiatives with the GWCCA Board of Governors. Harriet Thomas, GWCCA’s Training and Programs Manager presented the update.

The following longstanding training initiatives have played a major role in training our workforce and serving our customers.
- Customer service workshops;
- GWCCA University;
- The FISH;
- Give ‘em the Pickle;
- Juggling Elephants;
- Series 100 – Series 300;
- Johnny the Bagger;
- Professional Development;
- Best in Class; and
- Workplace Focus.

In 2012, The Authority began to strategically align its people strategies with its business strategies by revamping its approach to training with an emphasis on culture, competencies, and leadership development and launching “Best in Class” customer service. This reinforced our commitment to service excellence.

In 2013, department specific training was redefined with technical education curriculum with attention to skill and competency development.

In 2014, the Authority partnered with The Carl Vinson Institute of Government and in 2015, with the University of Georgia’s Terry College of Business to strengthen our leadership pool of highly qualified candidates, demonstrating our commitment to developing successors for critical positions. Forty participants have graduated from Carl Vinson and twenty of our senior leaders are now graduates of Terry College of Business Executive Programs.

In 2016, the Authority realigned its Senior Leadership Program and its relationship with the International Association of Venue Managers (IAVM) to develop a comprehensive succession planning program. Criteria has been established for participation in Venue Management School. Five employees have enrolled in the Venue Management School and two for the Graduate Institute Program.

When evaluating our management and Senior Leadership Program, the Authority discovered some specific skill gaps within our business and market trends. The Terry College of Business worked with the Authority to develop this year’s Emerging Leaders Program. The curriculum bridges gaps in strategy, communication, emotional intelligence, critical thinking, and team building. Graduates of the Senior Leadership Program will mentor the Emerging Leaders. Twenty-five applications have been received and feedback has been positive. The Authority continues to invest in quality learning programs to support the strategies of its business in order to remain competitive in the industry.
