Pricing Research

• Studied many newer stadiums across the U.S. in all different sports (Levi’s Stadium, AT&T Stadium, MetLife Stadium, etc.) to gather both unique design features and numerous pricing structures.

• Convention, Sports & Leisure International (CSL) and Legends worked through a series of phone interviews and focus groups comprised of local corporations, individuals and season ticket holders. The questions focused on what people are willing to pay for PSLs in different areas and their perceived value.

• CSL and Legends went a step further by targeting and meeting season ticket holders who will be allocated in specific sections of the New Stadium to test anticipated pricing live. By doing so we gained immediate feedback on anticipated price structure and finance options.

• As part of the market research, Legends selected a limited group of individual prospects and tested the marketing plan live. We gained immediate feedback that has become critical to the style of the presentation, value of the seats and pricing.
Personal Seat License (PSL) Overview

• A Personal Seat License, or PSL, is a one-time fee and a common form of financing for building new stadiums or undergoing large-scale renovations of sporting venues.

• You have the right to own your PSL through the term of the stadium lease (minimum of 30 years).

• As a PSL owner, you have exclusive opportunities to purchase tickets to other events hosted at the new stadium prior to the general public.

• Season ticket holders have the right to sell or transfer their PSL to a member of their immediate family or to a third party. Details of the transfer process is outlined in the PSL agreement.

• Customers can choose to pay for their PSL in full before the stadium opens, pay their PSL in three installments before the stadium opens (interest free), or select a financing plan to spread the payment over ten years.

• Additional benefits may include the right to purchase Falcons single game tickets and receive discounts at certain stadium retail outlets.

• PSL proceeds go directly to fund a portion of construction of the new Atlanta stadium.
